The programme is run for the benefit of applicants with a genuine interest in art, business and a career in the art world. Successful applicants will spend several months (ideally a 3-6 month commitment, with flexibility if interns are interviewing for full-time positions) working cross-departmentally within the company, gaining an insight into the daily routine of an international commercial art gallery. Interns are accepted on a rolling, as-needed basis throughout the year.

Responsibilities may include, but are not limited to:

- Administrative assistance (filing and archiving, library organisation, database management)
- Reception and Front of House duties, directing client enquiries and greeting guests
- Delivering or collecting works of art or running other relevant errands
- Research at the Gallery library and at other London libraries
- Helping to prepare, install, and set up exhibitions or art fairs, including hanging and lighting pictures

Eligibility:

Dickinson receives many applications for internships and undertakes a selection process based on a formal application and interview. Fluency in English and excellent verbal and written communication skills are essential; additional languages are helpful. We are especially interested in candidates who meet the below qualifications:

- History of Art Degree (or other related qualification)
- Previous work experience – either voluntary or paid – within the art sector
- Ability to demonstrate client-facing experience
- Excellent computer skills, with knowledge of both PC and Mac (including iPhone and iPad), and experience with both Word and Excel. Experience with InDesign would also be useful.
- Experience using social media in a professional/business context
- Enthusiasm for art and a flexible attitude

Terms and conditions:

Interns will be employed for an initial one month probationary period. The standard hours are Monday to Friday 9:30 am to 5:30 pm, with an hour for lunch, although this may vary during busy periods. Professional and appropriate attire is expected of all interns. Men must wear a jacket and tie, and women should dress with commensurate formality. To apply, please send a
